Polish grid operator Gaz-System maps Gdansk FSRU plan

Polish gas grid operator Gaz-System has completed a feasibility study tender for a proposed floating storage and regasification (FSRU) project in the country, expected to enter service in the first half of 2021, the company said on Monday.

The tender was completed earlier this month and Gaz-System expects to select a company to carry out the feasibility study on the EUR 700 million project by the end of the month.
